CORRESPONDENCE ON BEHR-ING SEA QUESTION.

THE PRESIDENT'S PROPOSALS

His Determination to Bring About a Closed Season Has the Desired Effect-British Govornment's Reply.

By National Press Association

WASHINGTON, June 2.-The President has made publisthe latest correspondence touching the Behring Sea question.

The hearing of this new instalment of Behring Sea literature can only be properly understood by going back to what occurred a year ago. Then the President, acting upon his view of American rights in Behring Ses and the uniform construction placed by this Government upon the acts of Congress for the protection of the fur seal, undertook to exclude Canadian sealing vessels from Behring Sea by force. Thereupon Lord Salisbury, failing to change the purpose of the President, caused this Government to be resident, causal this Government to be advised that mill some mutually chosen arbitrator should decide that Behring Sea belongs to the United States, the right of British vessels to take seals in that sea would be defended by such means as Her would be derended by such means as her Majesty's government possessed.

Upon this notification the President sought to induce Lord Salisbury to prohibit sealing by British vessels till could be determined whether the United States was right or wrong in claiming to control the seal fishery. Lord Salisbury offered to do so provided the President would agree to an immediate arbitration of the disputed question of jurisdiction of the disputed question of jurisdiction and to pay damages if defeated in the arbitration The President would not consent to this, but ordered the revenue cruisers not to molest the British sealers. At the late session of Congress the President laid the whole matter before that body, which took no action upon it. The President, not desiring a repetition of last year's futile proceedings, according-ly determined to bring about a closed season this year.

The result of this action was that a bill was investigated in travinged in Par-

THE BEHRING SEA BILL

It Passes the Second Rending in the House of Commons.

London, June 2. -In the House of Commons the Hon. W. H. Smith moved the second reading of the bill for a close season on Behring Sea.

He said that the government was endenvering to arrive at friendly conclusions with a kindred power, and no order in council would issue under the bill unless assurances were obtained that the conditions of arbitration were satisfactory, and that sealing would be prevented, except as to the 7,500 seals necessary for the natives. The arrangement appeared the best that could be obtained.

Sir John Ferguson said he believed the Sir John Ferguson said he believed the reply about to be addressed to the United States government would bring them so closely together that harmony would

The bill then passed a second reading.

Damage Done by Recent Frosts.

Lockronz, N. Y., June 2.—Reports from Western New York show that the damage done by May frosts has been large and widely extended, but has not been really disastrous anywhere except in the deep valleys of the south towns of Eric county. From that region the complaints are serious and the outlook somewhat discouraging. The region is largely devoted to dairying, and suffers by the shortened hay and pasturage caused by the drouth and frosts.

The great grape-growing region on the South shore of Lake Erie reports a full crop in sight, and the peach-growing region along the Niagara river makes an equally favorable report.

The drouth and frosts came too soon

The Superintendent reported that the Main, Centre and Lloyd street buildings need painting on the outside. That the Union street building should be raised and the White street building should receive mmediate attention, as the foundations need repair. That the old desks in room No. 5 of the Centre street building should be removed and replaced with new ones and a janitor should be employed for the Turkey Run building. The teachers are now doing the work and it prevents them from attending the weekly teachers' meetngs. It is necessary they should attend he meeting, but they will not be able to do so if a janitor is not employed for their schools. After speaking well of the work accomplished by the use of supplementary readers, Mr. Freeman recommended that primary histories be supplied for supple nentary reading and that, isstead of requiring pupils to purchase them, the board purchase sets so that two schools may use one set. This will require an expenditure of but about $200. But if pulls are required to purchase them the expense will run up into a thousand dollars. Continuing Mr. Freeman said, "It is my opinion that if parents of children and other citizens of the town would visit our schools more than they do there would be less occasion for complaint. They would become sequainted with the teachers, know more of their work and cares, and have more sympathy for the teachers. If there is any way by which we might prevall upon parents to visit the schools is would be a good thing. There is complaint frequently about our drawing and music. Some think it is a useless thing in our schools. I have taken pains to notify those who have found fault to visit the schools and see what the work is and in no case have I failed to convince those that these studies are good things."

The annual report of the treasurer, through the finance committee, was as fol-Total receipts.....

that the number of books on hand is 1,571. Mr. Freeman stated that larger quarter for the library are required and, as another oom for a grammar school will soon be needed, he recommended that a building with two rooms, one for the library and one for school purposes, be erected at the ear of the Main street building.

President Beddall suggested that It would so well, at the same time, to build some lace that would do away with the renting I places for schools, as is now the case.

Mr. Beddall then thanked the board for its co-operation and courtssies during the past year, and commented favorably upor the work accomplished. Referring to the remarks made by P. J. Ferguson at the The old School Board met in Superin-tendent Freeman's office last night to wind up its business. The members present were Mesure Trezise, Muldoon, Baird, from $32 to $35 and I think that was a great thing for the board to do, considering the disadvantages it labored under during the year, and, so far as the statements report for the month ending May 20, 1801, that the teachers are not receiving laboring men's wages is concerned, I would say there are plenty men, miners and laborers in the mines who are receiving less than $35 a month. While the teachers may be deserving of more pay, I think this board, under the conditions it liss been laboring, has been very liberal, instead.

Superintendent Freeman then said "Last year the board raised the salaries of eachers who had no experience $5 for the irst year and toat seemed an injustice to eachers who had taught three years. To make that right it seems to me the board had better raise the salaries along the line two or three dollars. I think the board could afford to doll."

A motion that the old board adjourn sine die, was then carried and Mesers. Bellis and Knebel, whose terms as directors expired with the meeting, withdrew,
